Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to John F. Hedges and Kittie J. Rowe, Emmett Stratman and Jennie Cline, Thomas Fick and Mira Burk, Charles McClure and Minnie Kidwell, Michael Connell and Ellen Lyons, William H. Kershaw and Jessie A. Lister, George P. Marott and Gertrude Hinton, Grant Robinson and Minnie Bartholomew, Callaway Francis and Malvina Reed, John M. McCray and Sarah J. Fancett, William H. Mulbarger and Mollie E. Delby, Rudolph Boescher and Mary H. Hamrick, James C. Haslam and Minnie Davis, Henry Rosenberg and Emma Decker.

The State Veterinary Surgeon, Dr. Pritchard, was called to Wabash county yesterday to investigate cases of Texas fever, which is represented as being prevalent among the cattle there. Sixteen head, belonging to Charles Wallace, were reported to the State Board of Health as having died this week. A few weeks ago, it is said, Wallace permitted a butcher to pasture some Texas cattle on his farm for a few days, which, it is claimed, had the fever, and spread the disease in that county. There are four more head reported sick, but the approach of cold weather, it is thought, will check the progress of the disease.

Building Permits.

The following building permits were issued yesterday: John Oberhart, improvements on East street, near Lincoln, $400; J. W. Williams, frame house on Thomas street, near West, $1,000; Thomas H. Johnson, frame cottage at No. 7 Park from avenue, $750; Mrs. S. Anderson, three frame cottages on Sixth street, near Delaware, $1,500; Dr. Jordan, improvements at No. 60 Linden street, $300; Elizabeth Dill, two frame cottages on Garfield street, near Lincoln, $1,500.

THE WIFE TAKES THE CHILD

A Divorce Case Affords an Incident Out of the Usual Order of Such Litigation.

No Receiver Appointed for the Labor Signal, and Two Corporations Compromise Their Differences—Items of Minor Interest.

Horace R. Ellis, who was the defendant in a suit for divorce brought by his wife, Mamie E. Ellis, Monday, reached the conclusion yesterday that he and she will probably remain apart from this on without the formality of a decree from court. He does not grieve because she has left him, but he does not appreciate the position of being outwitted by her. When Judge Walker was asked, Tuesday, to enjoin Mrs. Ellis from taking her child out of the court's jurisdiction he put the infant into the care of its maternal grandmother, Mrs. Stevens, living at the corner of California and Ohio streets. Mrs. Ellis has been making her home with her mother, and Mr. Ellis was not satisfied with the order of the court because he was afraid his wife would take the child and leave the city. Tuesday evening he filed affidavits setting forth his fears, but Judge Walker thought the child would be safe, and postponed further action until such time as circumstances might demand it. At 2 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Stevens appeared in the judge's court and announced that Mrs. Ellis and the child had disappeared, and were not to be found. Her story was that she had entrusted the child to its mother about 5 o'clock Tuesday evening, who said she wished to purchase the child a pair of shoes, and since that time they had not been seen.

Believing that Mrs. Ellis and the child were still in the city, the judge issued an order for their immediate appearance in court, and dispatched the sheriff to hunt them. The search was futile, but by the middle of the afternoon enough evidence was secured to show that Mrs. Ellis, with the child, had undoubtedly left the city. A witness was found who had seen a trunk removed from Mrs. Stevens' house about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. The witness also states that Mrs. Ellis, with the child, was seen going east on Ohio street soon afterward. A deputy sheriff was successful in finding the hackman who had removed the trunk. He is William C. He was brought before Judge Walker, and stated that about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a well-dressed man, wearing a high hat, and apparently forty years of age, came to his stand on the circle and asked him to take a trunk to the depot and answer no questions that might be asked him. When he reached the depot, which Mr. Stevens occupies, he was met by two ladies, one young and the other of middle age. The latter assisted him in taking the trunk down the back way. He handed it to the east end of the Union Depot, and the man again met the man who had employed him, and received his money. The man, he said, seemed prepared to go on a journey.

The evidence was sufficient to convince the judge that Mrs. Ellis and the child were out of the city. In company with the deputy sheriff the hack-driver visited Mrs. Stevens' house, and recognized that lady as the one who had helped him in getting the trunk down stairs. She will be brought before the court this morning for contempt, and unless she can prove that she did not assist her daughter in getting away with the child she will likely be very severely dealt with. The deputy sheriff gathered evidence at the depot last night indicating that Mrs. Ellis, and company with the strange man in the west, went East Tuesday evening on one of the 6 o'clock trains. It is Judge Walker's intention to go to the bottom of the case.

United Order of Honor.

Giles S. Bradley, receiver of the Supreme Lodge, United Order of Honor, has filed a supplementary report in Judge Taylor's court, referring exclusively to the unaccounted-for funds of the defunct order. In his first report he said he had found an unaccounted balance of $7,133.86. In his report filed yesterday he says that assisted by A. F. Denny, Mr. Scott, and other experts, he has spent several weeks attempting to unravel the financial mystery which came into his possession, and has found that instead of being able to make a better showing for the order he finds a worse condition. In going through the books of the supreme lodge, he found, he says, that there remained with Fletcher & Sharpe, on Feb. 20, 1883, a balance of $2,140.81, and that on July 15, a few days after the suspension of the bank, the supreme treasurer opened a new cash account, which did not include the balance in Fletcher & Sharpe's. The correct summary as he now gives it is as follows:

Balance unaccounted for as reported.....$7,133.86
Amount for which double credit was given in previous report..... 8,225.00
Amount for which no credit should be given..... 2,140.81
Leaving true balance unaccounted for.....$9,499.07

Was Awarded Damages.

The officers and attorneys of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company looked at each other in amazement yesterday afternoon when the jury in the damage suit of Mary A. Wise brought in a verdict against the company for $5,000. The verdict is one of the heaviest ever given in a damage suit where death did not result from the accident, and was entirely unexpected by both the attorneys for the company and the plaintiff. Mrs. Wise received her injuries while alighting from a street car on Washington street. While she was on the rear step the driver started the car, and by her falling becoming fastened to the step she was dragged a considerable distance. One of her ankles was fractured, and the injury has since given her much pain, although it did not disable her. The supreme court will ask Judge Walker to set the verdict aside as an unreasonable one, and in case of refusal they will go to the Supreme Court.

Claim of an Inventor.

A complaint was filed by Joseph Frazier, of LaPorte, with the clerk of the United States Court, yesterday, to enforce the Niles & Scott Manufacturing Company, of that place, to fulfill a contract whereby, it is alleged, the plaintiff was to receive a compensation of $100 per month and $5,000 in the par value of capital stock of the company for the use of a metal wheel invented by Frazier. Plaintiff avers that in September last the company assigned to him the stock, but the certificates therefor were never issued. The company has now dismissed him from its service and is, he charges, employing traveling agents throughout the country to introduce the patent wheel. Frazier says he is receiving no compensation whatever for his invention. He further asks the court to enjoin the company from violating his rights and that he be granted a royalty for the use of his invention.

Embarrassed by Cucumbers.

Frank M. Archdeacon, the manufacturer of pickles and vinegar, at No. 276 West Washington street, has assigned to William P. Browder all his property, personal and real, for the benefit of his creditors. His liabilities are placed at $20,000, while his assets are not more than $10,000 or $12,000. Business undertakings that proved to be unwise are given as the cause of his embarrassment. The last season furnished an abundant crop of cucumbers, and Mr. Archdeacon laid in an over-supply. The market several weeks ago became overstocked, and there was nothing left for Mr. Archdeacon to do but turn his stock over to his creditors.

Refused the Petitioners' Prayer.

Judge Taylor yesterday passed on the petition of James Egan and others for an order enjoining Thomas M. Gruelle and others from continuing the publication of the Labor Signal, and refused to grant the petitioners' prayer. He held that there was no evidence showing that there would be any pecuniary loss through the continued publication of the paper by the present management, and therefore refused to appoint a receiver. The question as to the validity of the lease was not touched upon, but it will not be dismissed until the case is brought to trial.

Charged with Taking Papers.

have three children, and she asks to have charge of them. She also alleges that Mr. Erhart is in the habit of visiting the store and interfering with her business, and she wants the court to enjoin him from meddling with her affairs.

Trial of Mrs. March.

Laura March, indicted for obtaining furniture from Born & Co. under false pretenses, was before Judge Irvin of the Criminal Court, again yesterday. She is endeavoring to prove that she was in Kansas when the goods were taken, as the firm alleges, and yesterday brought forward several witnesses from that State who corroborated her statement. The case has been again continued until more evidence can be obtained.

Compromised Their Difficulty.

The suit brought against the Consumers' Gas Trust Company by the water company, asking for an order preventing the former from laying mains within two feet of the water pipes, was compromised and dismissed yesterday. By the agreement reached the mains of the water company will not be disturbed, and where the pipes have been put down too near water mains they will be removed.

The Court Record.

13647. Cornelius Jones vs. Oliver H. Jones. Montgomery C. C. Affirmed. Niblack C. J.—It does not affirmatively appear by the record of this settlement that the defendant states herein that the notices thereof published by the clerk also notified the heirs of the decedent to appear and make proof of their heirship, but it is shown by the record that after the proofs of the notices given were presented it was held by the court that the proofs were sufficient, and that notices had been published and posted as required by law. The filing of the final account by the administrator conferred on the court jurisdiction to hear and determine all matters pertaining to the settlement of the estate, and the notices were sufficient to bring appellant, who was a distributee, into court and to require him to take notice of the proceedings taken on the account. No subsequent petition or pleading was necessary to give the court jurisdiction in the matter of the distribution of the surplus.

13676. Edward C. Thompson et al vs. Wm. S. Peck et al. Johnson C. C. Reversed. Mitchell, J.—Plaintiff sold defendant a bill of goods in July, 1884, amounting to $1,987. Another bill was sold in 1885, amounting to $1,824; another in 1886, amounting to $1,474.50. For a bill sold in 1884 the plaintiff took three promissory notes, executed by defendants, two of which have been paid. Notes were also given for the second account, but the second account was not open. In 1885 defendants made an assignment. Plaintiff asserted the right to recover all goods sold on above-mentioned dates on the ground that defendants were bankrupts and were unable to pay, and did not intend to pay. Held, that after the lapse of time replevin would not lie without a tender and a rescission of the contract.

13222. Weston Plank-road Company vs. Central Union Telephone Company. Vigo S. C. Affirmed. Elliott, J.—An order of a board of county commissioners directing the townships to repair a gravel road cannot affect the company when it had no notice. The failure of the directors to make a report required by law did not so far destroy the corporation as to authorize the corporation to seize its property. The evidence herein shows that the road was abandoned, and the rights of the public are thereby established without a judgment of court.

14106. Patrick Dehaney vs. State. Wells C. C. Affirmed. Zollars, J.—If the evidence fairly tends to sustain the verdict the judgment will be upheld.

14350. R. T. F. Abbott vs. Board, et al. Wisconsin C. C. Reinstated.

1444. Charlotte Gilman vs. Benj. E. Jones. Spencer C. C. Dismissed.

14405. John I. Keeler vs. Wm. T. Holmes. Hancock C. C. Dismissed.

DIAMONDS AS A DRUG

The practice of wearing large diamond studs with evening dress will be frowned upon this winter. General complaints are heard that the custom has grown too common. We have heard it. Diamond studs are getting so common in this region as to become like the grasshopper, a burden. Nothing against wearing them in the day time. It is only for evening wear that they are objected to. Come in and let us sell you some diamond studs for a daylight display.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government."

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public."

"Dr. HENRY A. MOTT, Ph. D., U. S. Government Chemist."
